AGREED STATEMENT OF FACTS on motor vehicle accident

What to do immediately after an accident

- Switch on the warning lights and place the reflecting mangles at a reasonable distance from the rear of the vehicle.
- If your damaged vehicle is likely to cause an obstruction on the road, remove your vehicle from the road to the nearest safe place only after you have clearly marked on the surface of the road the position of its wheels and registration mark with a yellow indelible marker or chalk. You do not have to wait for the police to do so.

Elements taken into consideration
The elements taken into consideration are only those which appear in the practical situations in these scales of liabilities.

Excluded elements
- Elements relating to speed, lighting or overloading of the vehicles.
- Elements relating to signalling devices of vehicles, except in the situation provided in case 10.
- Specific regulations applying to lanes reserved for certain types of vehicles.

Location of accidents
These scales of liabilities are applicable to accidents occurring on all roads.

Circumstances not specifically provided for in the scales of liabilities
Should this occur, the most suitable case in the scales should be used.

Admission of fact
Admission of liability must not be taken into consideration. Only an admission of fact relating to one of the elements provided in the scales of liabilities shall be considered.

NOTE:
- The conditions under which each case applies are specified or commented in each case.
- "Changing file" includes the movement of a vehicle to the right or to the left of another vehicle.
This case applied when the front part of B knocks against the rear part of A. It also applies in the following cases:

- Side impact of B against the rear part of A (e.g. skidding or manoeuvre of B)
- A turns to the right or left in a side road.
- A enters a parking bay or zone on the right or left of the road, takes to the right or left into a parking area. A place to which the public is not granted access on untarred road.

In the absence of such evidence, the traffic is deemed to be moving in two files. Cases 02, 03 and 04 are then applicable.

- Overtaking is inconsistent with traffic moving in a single file.
- A point of impact on the side of a vehicle, even when it is behind the rear wheel, is sufficient evidence of traffic moving in two files, notwithstanding anything to the contrary.

In the case of dispute by the driver of B, traffic along a single file cannot be inferred by the point of impact: such reference should be made by using other evidence (e.g. Observations, sketches, etc. ...).
Vehicle moving in the same direction on the same road

Vehicles A and B are moving in 2 files

</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

DEGREE OF RESPONSIBILITY: 50% 50%

This case applies if A and B are moving in 2 files:
- when there is no evidence that B changes file, or
- when it is proved that both A and B change files.
This Case applies when A and B are moving in 2 files and B changes file:

- B changes file to enter a place other than a side road.
- B turns to the right to enter a side road, cutting-in in front of A.
- B turns to the left to enter a side road and cut-in in front of A provided it is proved that A – does not encroach on or does not cross the centreline, or – moves under the same conditions as provided for in case 05
- B is hit at the rear while changing file an the initial movement of both vehicles in a single file is not established.

These cases apply when A and B are moving in 2 files and B changes file or

Vehicle B turns right into a side road
Vehicle A is approaching on the centrelane.

If A shows that there was no encroachment on or crossing over of the centreline, case
03 is applicable against B.

EXCEPTION: If the road is a one-way case 03 is applicable against B.

Vehicles moving in opposite directions

CASE 05 & 06

05
Vehicle B encroaches on the centreline. Vehicle A is moving in its lane.

06
Vehicles A and B encroach on the centreline or their positions with regard to that line cannot be established.
This Case applies in case of an encroachment on the centreline by B:

It also applies against B when the position of right flank coincides with the centreline.

Centreline means:
- The continuous or broken white line.
- In the absence of a white line, the middle of the road, or, of that part of the road left open to traffic by a line of parked vehicles or by road works.
- In the absence of a continuous white line, the centreline of the road, even if for example a step to the entrance of premises or a container encroaches on the road.
- In case of a 3-lane road which has no continuous or broken white line, the middle of the central lane.

Encroachment shall be presumed by the following:

Where the vehicle is carried off course or skids
- The carrying off course or skidding of a vehicle to the right is evidence of encroachment.
- Carrying off course or skidding is presumed to be to the right until the contrary is established.

Explanatory notes
- Evidence of encroachment over the centreline may consist of an undisputed written note inserted in the column “Observations” of the Agreed Statement of Facts Form (eg. Driving on the right, keeping to the right, staying on the right, cutting across, take a bend to the right or far to the right, driving or staying in the middle of the road, skidding, crossing the centre of the road, losing control, going straight ahead at a left bend, being carried off course).
- But a note such as “to force one’s way through or overtake” is not such evidence.

Evidence of non-encroachment of one of the 2 vehicles:
- If it is established that one vehicle is not encroaching then the other one is considered to be encroaching.
- Evidence of this may consist on an unchallenged entry inserted in the column “observations” of the Agreed Statement of Facts Form or else by means of an acceptable note such as: “driving on the left, keeping to the left, staying on the left, driving normally, moving or follow one’s file or lane”.

By a sketch
- Encroachment can also be established by the positions of the vehicles on a sketch.
- When on a sketch, the position of left flank of a vehicle coincides with the left side of the road in its line of motion. It means that the vehicle was keeping to its left (a fortiori when its left flank oversteps the left side of the road in its line of motion).

By the point of impact
- Encroachment can also be established from the location of the point of impact when it is shown that the point of impact is situated in an area situated entirely in the lane of A.

This Case applies:
When it is established that A and B both encroach on the centreline, even if the point of impact occurs in the lane of either A or B.
Or when the positions of A and B cannot be established with regard to the centreline.

Collisions when vehicles are moving in opposite directions or when one has priority
- When B cuts-in in front or prepares to cut-in in front of A to turn right, case 06 applies against B.
- If it is established that A did not encroach on the centreline, case 06 applies against B.
- When a collision occurs at crossroads or at an intersection, and the vehicles are coming from different roads, case 07 (or 08) applies except where it is established that the directions in which the vehicles were moving neither cross nor meet each other.
- If it is established that A turns right and that the direction in which B is moving is not known then case 07 applies against B, in the absence of any other available evidence.
- If it is established that B turns left, case 06 or 07 applies depending whether there is evidence or encroachment of A and/or B.

Collision involving vehicles in opposite directions or in the same direction
- If it is established that A and B are moving in opposite directions and A turns left while B turns right to enter the same road, then case 05 applies against B.
- The rule also applies when the collision occurs beyond any road junction.

Collision involving vehicles in opposite directions with a difference in priority
- If A does not have priority (i.e. A must give way or stop), and has not moved forward onto the road and is hit by B, then case 05 applies against B.

Cases 07 and 08 apply to collisions occurring at crossroads or intersections.

A collision occurs in the crossroads area when it is established that the vehicles come from different roads and their directions intersect or meet even though the impact occurs behind the junction.

On the other hand, if there is evidence that the collision occurs before the junction, case 05 applies (the collision is presumed to have occurred before the junction so long as the collision is located before the prolongation of the nearside of the road is in line of motion of A).

LEGEND

- Before the junction (case 05 or 08)
- Within the junction (case 07 or 08)
- At entrance or exit of junction (case 07 or 08)

CASE 07 & 08

07
Vehicle A has priority.

08
Vehicle A has right of way.
Vehicle A moves along a two-way street and encroaches over the centreline (provided that it is not a continuous line).
Vehicle B is presumed not to have encroached, but is moving in its lane.
Case 07

Vehicle A has priority.

DEGREE OF RESPONSIBILITY: 0% 100%

This case applies when A is moving in its lane and has right of way.

Case 08

Vehicle A, which has right of way, moves along a two-way street and encroaches over the centreline (provided that it is not a continuous line), vehicle A is assumed not to have encroached, but is moving in its lane.

DEGREE OF RESPONSIBILITY: 50% 50%

This case applies when A having right of way moves along a two-way street and encroaches over the centreline or oversteps it.

If it is proved that both A and B encroach on the centreline, case 07 applies against B.
Section 4

Cases 09 and 10 apply to the following situations:

- The vehicle is stationary for a moment in order to allow persons to embark or disembark, or the loading or unloading of goods while the driver is at the steering wheel or in the immediate vicinity so that he may move the vehicle whenever this is necessary.

that are stopped due to traffic conditions should not be taken to be stationary vehicles.
